| STAN       | Our in-house AI Venture Platform processes automatically hundreds of startups and founders daily to detect the ones matching our thesis. Human time is reserved for the top 1 percent that get a CALL recommendation by Stan, our AI Principal. The reason every other signal was discarded is written down. Thesis parameters that drive sourcing, investment analysis and due diligence are recalibrated every day based on our feedback. |
| PROOF      | The same platform already books dozens of meetings for Proplace and Maximum Insurance.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
